III.—SLAVE TRADE: PAPERS RELATING TO

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE EARL BATHURST, K. G.

MY LORD,

London, April 12th, 1827.

OUR Despatch, N° 75, dated December 14th, 1826, will have apprised your Lordship of our removal from Berbice to Demerara, in further prosecution of the duties of our Commission; and we have now the honour to submit to your Lordship the following Report of our proceedings at the period of receiving your Lordship's despatch, dated 5th December last.

18 Dec. 1826.

Having on our arrival in that colony addressed a letter to the collector, and been furnished with the returns therein required, we entered upon the regular course of inquiry, as directed by your Lordship's instructions; and such information as we were able to obtain relative to the state and condition of those apprenticed and liberated negroes who came before us, will be found detailed in the accompanying Schedules of Examination.

(A.)

The numbers here exhibited amount to thirty males and thirty-two females, who may be classed and arranged as follows:

	M.	F.
First four on the list, viz. - - - - -	3	1
are Africans, who were taken and condemned as prize of war in 1812 and 1814, at St. Vincent and Tortola; were apprenticed there, and have since been removed to Demerara with their masters.
Increase from the above by birth - - - - -	1	2
The next four, viz. - - - - -	1	3
are also Africans, who were seized on shore at Demerara by the officers of His Majesty's customs, and condemned in the Vice-Admiralty Court of that colony, for illegal importation from ports in the West Indies, and have been apprenticed out to different persons.
Increase by birth - - - - -	1	-
The remainder, viz. - - - - -	24	26

including children (with the exception of three female Africans), are creole negroes and persons of colour, who were also seized on shore at different periods by the officers of His Majesty's customs, for alleged breaches of the slave abolition laws, and condemned to the Crown by sentence of the court of Vice-Admiralty. Of these last, there have been set at liberty to earn their own living, eight males and thirteen females, who support themselves and their children, viz. three males and one female; five males and one female have been apprenticed out; one male and one female placed out on trial; and the remainder, viz. seven males and ten females, including children, are supported by the collector at the expense of the Crown.

Previous to our commencing the individual examinations of the people, we mustered and inspected in a body as many of them as could be assembled at the short notice given. We also visited the school established by the collector on his own premises for the education of the children, who are instructed by an elderly black woman, and appeared to have made a satisfactory progress, considering that they had not been more than five months under her tuition.

The people who attended for examination were in general clean, well clothed, and decent looking persons; and their appearance, upon the whole, so little corresponded with the unfavourable character given of many of them, both males and females, by the collector, who described them as a turbulent, ungovernable set, constantly constantly in gaol for theft and other crimes, that we were induced to apply to the fiscal for more precise information on the subject.

The correspondence which passed between ourselves and that magistrate on this occasion, we now beg leave to lay before your Lordship, as being expressive (we believe) of the general feeling amongst the colonists towards this description of persons, who form what may be termed a distinct and separate class in every West India community, where there exists so strong a prejudice against them, as to render it a matter of difficulty to obtain information regarding them that can be depended on. By the white inhabitants they are viewed with jealousy and alarm, as likely by their example to increase the idle, vicious propensities, and to generate in the minds of the slaves a spirit of discontent and insubordination, or with apprehension (perhaps not unfounded) that they may hereafter become burthensome to the colony in which they reside.

By the black and coloured free people they are despised, who regard them as interlopers, unexpectedly and without any merit of their own brought on a level with themselves, and occupying a station in society which is generally conferred upon others as the reward of long-trying good conduct; and by the negro slave population they are hated, as having been advanced to a state of freedom, to which they consider themselves equally well entitled.

Under these circumstances it may easily be conceived that their situation is more to be pitied than envied; and although there may be some persons of very indifferent character amongst those who appeared before us, we are disposed to believe that their numbers and their crimes have been greatly exaggerated; and it is not impossible that the conduct of this class of persons may be more narrowly watched, and the authority of the police more rigorously exercised against them, than would be observed in similar cases towards the negro slave, and that small crimes and misdemeanors, which might be overlooked in the one, would be punished in the other. To justify the expression of this opinion, we would beg leave to refer your Lordship to the return which accompanied the fiscal's letter to us above noticed, wherein the numbers reported to have been confined in the gaol are few, and the offences with which they were charged trifling, with the exception of two or three cases of persons who had been released, after a confinement of near three months on suspicion of theft, which their accusers neither prosecuted nor attempted to prove; while we had been led to believe, from the reports which had reached us, that the disorderly and vicious conduct of those persons had been so notoriously and atrociously displayed as to become a nuisance to the colony, and to render it a most desirable object with the inhabitants to be rid of them at any rate.

Enclosure in Document (B.)

On a reference to the Schedules of Examination, it will be seen that some of these persons are in a condition to, and actually do at present maintain themselves; but it cannot be said that they will be permanently able to do so, as in the case of pregnant women (many of those who came before us were in that state), or of females with large families of children, whose fathers are either dead or in a state of slavery, without any means of contributing to their support, as is the case at present with some, and which is an evil very likely to increase to a considerable extent; others again are now supported at the expense of the Crown, some of whom will never be able to earn their own living.

Vide Schedules.

It will therefore become a question for the consideration of His Majesty's Government, in cases where persons who, having been set at liberty to earn their own livelihood, are found to be, either from indolent habits and unwillingness to work steadily for their own living, or from inability to procure work, proceeding from a want of demand for their labour, or from old age, sickness, or any other cause, without the means of support, what course is to be pursued? Would the collector be justified in compelling those who were able, but unwilling, to work; and in the other supposed cases, is he to afford them subsistence at the expense of the Crown, or apply for relief to the colonial government?

This leads us to consider the question of agricultural employment for this class of persons, at a certain rate of hire; and on this point, from all the information we have been able to obtain, we should be disposed to offer it as our opinion, that free negroes and people of colour would not be found inclined to, nor can it indeed be expected, so long as field labour continues to be the badge of slavery in the colonies, colonies, that any persons of free condition will voluntarily follow that mode of obtaining a livelihood; nor, perhaps, under any circumstances, where the tendency to indulge in habits of indolence, proceeding from the enervating influence of climate operating on the human frame, is so great as in the West Indies, and where the wants of nature are so few and so easily supplied that two days labour will suffice for a week's support, would they, without compulsion, pursue that most laborious of all occupations as a means of earning their subsistence: accordingly, it is generally found that most, if not all, persons of that class in the colonies inhabit the towns, and maintain themselves,—the men, either by working at such trades as they may have learnt, by jobbing as porters, or hiring themselves out as domestics;—and the females, either in this latter occupation, as sempstresses, or in huckstering goods and wares about the town and country for sale. Of the two sexes, we should be of opinion that the females are more disposed to industrious habits than the men; and in this opinion we are borne out by the fact that the contributions to the saving bank established by the collector have been exclusively made by the females, as will be seen in the accompanying statement furnished by that officer; although the rate of wages and opportunities of making money, especially in the mechanical trades, are greatly in favour of the males.

In point of religious knowledge and moral improvement, these negroes appeared to us much on a par with those belonging to the Winkel Establishment in Berbice, on whom we have already made our report to your Lordship. Most of them are natives of Barbadoes, and are decidedly the most intelligent of any we had yet seen, which is no doubt to be attributed to their constant intercourse with Europeans, and a more perfect knowledge of the English language; and it is no more than justice to state, that in the examination of those persons, we found in many instances that considerable attention had been bestowed by their former owners on their religious instruction.

As to their future disposal, we are not aware that the males can now be placed in any situation where they would be more likely or better able to earn their own living than in Demerara; but we should be inclined to recommend, that in all future cases where young creole boys are to be placed out with masters, they should be apprenticed to some useful mechanical trade, instead of being brought up as domestics.

With respect to the females, we must confess ourselves at a loss to say what would be most advisable to recommend to His Majesty's Government for adoption.

Many of these, who are creoles of Barbadoes, expressed a strong desire on their examination to return to their native country, where they have numerous relations; and *some even went so far as to say, that they would rather go back to be slaves than remain in their present condition: and it is proper to bring to your Lordship's notice, that in some of the cases brought before us, children appear to have been separated from their families, not only against their own wish, but without the consent of their parents; and it will be for the consideration of His Majesty's Government, under the circumstances herein set forth, how far it may be advisable to send those persons back to the colony which permitted their illegal exportation. We would therefore submit, whether their own benefit, not to say happiness, would not be best promoted by their being allowed to return to Barbadoes; where it is but fair to presume, that with their own industry and the assistance of their relatives, they could not fail to support themselves without the risk of becoming burthensome to that community.

* Vide Schedules,

„ 46, Martha.

An account of all expenses incurred in the condemnation, maintenance, &c. of these negroes, as furnished to us by the collector, amounting to 2,641 l. 3 s. 1 d. sterling, is herewith transmitted for your Lordship's information; and we cannot conclude this Report without begging to draw your Lordship's attention to the enormous fees charged in the court of Vice-Admiralty in this colony, which are precisely on the same scale as those in Berbice; and to the allowance made to the collector for the support of the negroes, which, as appears to us, is above two thirds more than is necessary.

The collector at present receives for that purpose 7 guilders per week for each adult, to whom he pays 2 guilders per week to provide food, charging His Majesty's Government extra for medical attendance and clothing: calculating, therefore, at the

the rate of 5 guilders per week, or f. 260 per annum, saved on each negro, the collector's profit or income, for the mere superintendence of twenty negroes, would be equal to f. 5,200, or 400*l.* sterling per annum, independent of the advantage he derives from employing them in his own domestic service, which we presume to think is a rate of remuneration for his trouble higher than has been contemplated by His Majesty's Government.

In addition to those enumerated in the schedules, and as connected with this last point, we beg leave to lay before your Lordship the accompanying Return of Slaves seized by officers of the customs; and who (although their cases were still pending at the time of our departure from Demerara), there was no reason to doubt, would be condemned to the Crown, and thus become an additional source of expense to the public.

We have the honour to be, &c. &c.

Part I.

SCHEDULES of Examinations of the apprenticed and liberated Negroes in DEMERARA, as taken before the Commissioners for inquiring into the State and Condition of Captured Africans; January 1827.

N ^o	NAMES and AGE.	SEX:		Where Born.	PARTICULARS of Seizure, &c.	INDENTURES OF APPRENTICESHIP:
		M.	F.			To whom.	Date of	Period.
1.	Marcau or Morow; aged 26.	1	-	Africa - -	Condemned as prize of war at St. Vincent in 1812.	D. M'Intosh, wood-cutter.	June 13th	1 year.
Apprenticed at St. Vincent 30th July 1817, to a mason, for seven years: accompanied his master to Demerara, who died there in 1821; and was re-apprenticed, in 1822, to J. O'Neal for the remainder of the term. The collector states that this is so desperate a character, and such a thief and runaway, that nobody can keep him, and that he is constantly in gaol for theft, &c.; but his present master, Mr. M'Intosh, to whom he has been apprenticed for one year at his own request, states that he behaves well when he does not get liquor, to which he is much addicted, and when drunk is quite unmanageable: has not detected him in thieving whilst in his service. Should this negro continue to conduct himself with propriety, Mr. M'Intosh would give him employment on the expiration of his apprenticeship at the rate of 250 f. per annum, finding him in food and medical attendance. Is employed at present in clearing timber, and cutting wood for his master. This negro is not baptized, has received no instruction whatever, and is in a state of barbarian ignorance. Says that he gets plenty to eat and drink.
N. B.—It ought to be observed that this man's name does not appear upon the fiscal's list as having ever been confined in gaol, neither is there any charge for gaol fees in the collector's accounts.
2.	Richard Robinson; African name, Accomika; aged 26.	1	-	Africa, Ibo nation.	Condemned at Tortola in 1814; part of the cargo of the Spanish ship Manuella. See Parliamentary Return, p. 95.	Ch ^r Robinson, esq. collector of H. M. customs.	August 1814	14 years.
This negro is employed in doing carpenter's work for his master; learnt the trade from a coloured man in St. Lucia; says that he understands his trade well, and could earn 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ or 3 guilders (3 s. 7 d. to 4 s. 4 d. stg.) by it per diem; gets an allowance of a dollar (4 s. 4 d. stg.) a week from his master to supply himself with food and clothing; was baptized in 1818 at St. Lucia; attends church, and appears to have profited by the religious instruction he has received; answers questions put to him on that head with considerable intelligence; cohabits with a slave belonging to Captain Muddle; has no children here, but has got one at St. Lucia. The collector states that this man is sickly and idly disposed, but sober and honest; subject to slow fever.
3.	William Hetherington; African name, Occurrie; aged 23.	1	-	Africa, Moco nation.	Condemned at Tortola, Aug. 1814; part of the cargo of the Spanish ship Venus. Vide Parliamentary Return, p. 87.	Ch ^r Robinson, esq. collector of H. M. customs.	August 1814	14 years.
The collector states that this man is a most inveterate drunkard, an idle and worthless character, has drunk himself almost to death, and has been in the colonial hospital for the last six months. The man himself states that his employment has been in the Custom-house; can take care of a horse; has been put to learn the cooper's trade, and can make a sugar cask; is fed and clothed by Mr. Robinson; has been baptized, but has made little progress in religious knowledge. Dr. Webster, the medical attendant at the colonial hospital, states that he attended this man for Mr. Robinson about two years ago; he was very ill both then and afterwards, arising entirely from excessive drinking; he consulted with Mr. Robinson, and proposed that, with the permission of the fiscal, he should be kept at the gaol hospital, where he has been for the last six months; by attention, and keeping him from rum, he has been literally rescued from the jaws of death, but is sure he would relapse into as bad a state as ever were he permitted to go at large; is supported on the hospital establishment.

4.	Eliza Robinson; African name, Nuago; aged 27.	-	1	Africa, Ibo nation.	Condemned at Tortola, Aug. 1814; part of the cargo of the Spanish ship Manuella. Vide Parliamentary Return, p. 96.	Ch ^r Robinson, esq. Collector of H. M. Cus- toms.	August 1814	14 years.
N. B.—This woman, it would appear, was examined by the former Commissioner (Major Moody,) 1822. Vide Schedules (F. F.) p. 14.
Children of the above Female :
	Margaret; aged 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ years.	-	1	St. Lucia, 20th May 1819.
	Ellen; aged 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ years.	-	1	Grenada, 12th June 1821.
	Jeffery; aged 4 years.	1	-	Tortola, 30th Dec. 1822.
This is a decent respectable looking woman; she has three fine children, two girls and a boy, all of whom appeared before the Commissioners clean and well clothed. Their father, a black man, died in 1822. This woman has always remained with her master, who gives her a good character, but says that she is slow and idle. Is employed in Mr. Robinson's family, as housemaid; can wash, cook and use her needle; makes her own and children's clothes. The two eldest (girls) can read; the second, only six years and a half old, perhaps as well, or nearly so, as most children of her age in England; and the little boy is learning; knows his letters tolerably well already. The mother receives a dollar a week from her master to find herself in food; she is also clothed by him. It is no more than justice to Mr. Robinson to state, that the appearance of this family does him much credit.
5.	Manoella; aged 24 years.	-	1	Africa, Ibo nation.	Seized on shore by the officers of H. M. customs, for illegal im- portation from Cayenne. Ves- sel unknown. Condemned Sept. 22, 1819.	John Davis, Protestant mis- sionary.	Jan 1820	7 years.
Child of the above Female :
	Sam, (alias) George; aged 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ years.	1	-	Demerara.
Indentures expired 1st January 1827. This female has one child, one year and a half old, and is pregnant with another. Her character has hitherto been indifferent, as stated by the collector; but her master, Mr. Davis, now speaks more favourably of her, to whom she was hired on the expiration of her apprenticeship at 1f. per diem, but on account of sore eyes, as she states, only remained with him five days. So long, therefore, as she continues idle after she has obtained her freedom, it becomes a question how is she to be supported? She states, however, that she is willing to work, and when recovered will return to Mr. Davis's service; can work with her needle, which she was taught by Mrs. Davis; has been baptized, but has received very little instruction; repeats the Lord's Prayer imperfectly; attends chapel every Sunday. Mr. Davis states, that her conduct, during a great part of her apprenticeship, was very indifferent; he complained of her to the collector, who reproved her, and she has since conducted herself so much better, that he has baptized her; considers her dull and slow. The man with whom she now cohabits has made a solemn promise to marry her when he can obtain his owner's permission; considers her capable of supporting herself with comfort, if she continues well behaved; has no reason to be dissatisfied with her, on the score of honesty or industry.

This female states, that she is employed in Mr. Staple's family as housemaid, cook and washerwoman, and is fed and clothed; says her master treats her very well; cannot work with her needle; has received no instruction, and has no idea of religion. Mr. Staple says, this is a well-disposed woman when not in liquor; from which, however, he finds it difficult to keep her.
7.	Louisa; aged 17	-	1	Africa	Seized on shore for illegal importation, by the officers of H. M. customs. Brought from Surinam, in the schooner Jackman, and condemned Sept. 28, 1821. The vessel was condemned at Barbadoes.	Lieut.-Colonel Goodman, (venue master.)	Jan. 2, 1824	6 years.
Is employed in Colonel Goodman's family to attend the ladies and mind a child; can wash and use her needle, and is taught every thing that is to be done about the house; fed and clothed by her master, who gives her a very good character; has been baptized by the clergyman of the Established Church, but as yet is only in the rudiments of instruction; repeats the Lords Prayer and part of the Creed, both very imperfectly; goes to church on Sundays by her mistress's orders. This is a fine, tall, well-looking young woman, and is supposed by the collector to have been a person of superior condition in her own country.
8.	Sam; aged 21	1	-	Barbadoes	Seized on shore by the officers of H. M. customs, for illegal importation from Barbadoes. Vessel unknown. Condemned 15 Mar. 1820.	C. H. Dalton, as cooper.	Aug. 1821	7 years.
This man states that he was put to learn the trade of a cooper on his master's estate, where he remained about twelve months; got very sick, and was sent to town. Finding that his master took no care of him, and did not clothe him, and wanted to put him as a sailor on board a schooner, which he did not like, he quitted him and took to learning the joiner's trade, and is now working as such with a man named Benjamin Jeffreys, who pays him eight dollars (34 s. 8 d. sterling) a month out of which he feeds and clothes himself: he is quite uneducated. The collector states that he is a very bad character, frequently in gaol for theft, &c. In justice to this man, however, it is proper to state that his name only appears once on the fiscal's list as a prisoner in gaol for gambling.
9.	Bob; aged 26	1	-	Martinique	Seized on shore by ditto, for illegal importation from Martinique. Condemned 15 Mar. 1820.	J. Pinkerton, carpenter.	Sept. 1, 1821	5 years.
Indentures expired 1st September 1826. The collector states that this is a loose disorderly character, and gets his living by jobbing; is at present hired as a servant by a Mr. Abraham, who allows him ten dollars (43 s. 4 d.) a month, out of which he supports himself. His former master, Mr. Pinkerton, gives him an indifferent character, and states that he was in the frequent habit of running away. Party says he was baptized by a priest at Guadeloupe: he is however wholly uneducated.

10.	Ben; aged 30	1	-	Barbadoes	Seized by the officers of H. M. customs, for illegal importation from Barbadoes; was landed at night; importer fined 200 guilders. Condemned 12 October 1822.
					Set at liberty by the general orders of the Board of Customs, dated 21st December 1820, to earn his own livelihood. The collector states that he is an idle worthless fellow; he has been in hospital these three years, laid up with ulcerated feet, and never will be good for any thing, every medical treatment having been tried without effect; he is supported in hospital at the expense of the colony.
11.	Charles; aged 24.	1	-	Ditto	Seized as above with Ben; condemned 12 October 1822.
					Set at liberty as above. Asked how he gets his living now; says he had formerly lived with a gentleman as servant, and had saved a little money, as he used always to get 2 joes (about 3 l.) a month; has been out of service for two months. When pressed to say how he now lives, could give no satisfactory account of himself; knows no trade. The collector states that this is a noted gambler and thief, and spends much of his time in gaol; his name, however, does not appear on the fiscal's list of prisoners, but he himself admits having been twice in gaol. Says he was baptized at Barbadoes by the Rev. Mr. Garnett; repeats the Lord's Prayer, and says he attends the English church every Sunday; seems to entertain correct notions of a future state; can read easy words of one or two syllables; cohabits with a slave woman.
12.	Jack (a mulatto); aged 14.	1	-	Dominica	Seized by the officers of H. M. customs, on board a smuggling sloop from Surinam (the Eliza), and condemned with her on 31 May 1824, as an alien slave, and without formalities.	P. Staple, esq. comptroller of H. M. customs.	Sept. 7th 1825	7 years.
					The collector states, that he was apprenticed in virtue of his non-age and ignorance of the English language. The boy himself informs the Commissioners that he was born in Dominica, taken to Surinam by his father, and sold there after his death; is employed as a domestic in Mr. Staple's family, by whom he is clothed and fed; says he would rather be put to a trade; has learnt the alphabet, and repeats the Lord's Prayer; nothing more; has a good character from the collector, and from his master, who says he is a quiet well-disposed boy, but, he fears, consumptive.

	This woman is sickly, and is supported by the collector, with her four youngest children, at the expense of the Crown ; receives from him 5 guilders (7s. 3d. sterling) a week for that purpose ; is employed in washing clothes. Party states that she was formerly the property of a Mr. Dewar, of St. Kitt's, from whose manager she got leave about six years ago to proceed to St. Vincent with a Mrs. Cleary, and came over with her to Demerara ; when Mrs. Cleary, and the person with whom she cohabited, were concerned in an attempt to export slaves to Surinam, she gave information to Major Staple, comptroller of customs. 22.	Joan ; aged 33	-	1	St. Kitt's -	Seized with the foregoing, as having been illegally imported, and condemned, January 2d, 1826. Her son, although born subsequently to the date of her importation, was condemned as above with his mother.	To the collector of the customs, in the terms of the Order in Council of 19 July 1825.	-	-	7 years each.
23.	And her son : Jerome ; aged 4	1	-	Demerara -
Set free to work for her own living, and earns 6s. per week by washing ; is fed by her employer ; can work with her needle ; makes her own and child's clothes. Was baptized at St. Kitt's ; repeats the Lord's Prayer tolerably. Collector states that her character is doubtful. Was brought to Demerara by Mrs. Cleary, who wanted to take her to Surinam, and she gave information. Has paid in 46 guilders (3l. 6s. 5d. stg.) to the collector's saving bank up to the 15th instant (January) ; would have paid in more but had been sick a long time. N. B.—Of these last-named eleven people, eight had actually arrived at Nickarie, on the coast of Surinam, and were given up by the public authorities of that colony on application by the Governor of Demerara. One of the offenders concerned in this illegal transaction was caught and condemned to two years imprisonment in the common gaol, which he is now undergoing ; the other escaped at Nickarie. The whole twelve (one of the negroes, named Neptune, not seen by the Commissioners, vide page 19 these Schedules,) were libelled, together with the vessel, the Betsey, and condemned as above.
24.	James ; aged 15	1	-	Barbadoes -	Seized on shore in January 1826, by the officers of the customs, for illegal importation ; and condemned 18th July following.	To the collector as above.	-	-	7 years.
This negro was purchased in Barbadoes by Miss Sarah Fraser, resident of Demerara, and was brought from the former colony as a domestic of Mr. L. Barnes. Is now apprenticed to the collector, in whose domestic service he is employed to take care of a horse. Fed and clothed at the expense of the Crown. Receives 15 stivers (1s. 1d. stg.) from the collector every Sunday. Learnt the trade of a carpenter at Barbadoes, and his mistress hired him out to work as such with a Mr. Pine, at a dollar a day, after she brought him to this colony. Was baptized at Barbadoes ; reads a little in the New Testament ; repeats the Lord's Prayer very well, and has a knowledge of the Ten Commandments. His mother and some of his relations are living at Barbadoes. His reason for consenting to leave that place with Miss Fraser was, because she said she was not going to stop here, but would take him backward and forward between here and there, but she remained here altogether.
25.	Ned ; Jack ; aged 8 to 10.	1	-	Barbadoes -	Seized by the officers of the customs for illegal importation from Barbadoes, and condemned with the last mentioned negro, 18th July 1826.	To the collector of the customs as the last.	-	-	7 years.

Mr. Hammill intends, in the event of keeping him, to send him to school for two or three hours every day.

This girl told the Commissioners that she would much rather return to be with her old mistress as a slave than remain here free ; came away by her own consent, from a wish to see this colony ; her mother was at first sorry to part with her, but afterwards made up her mind to it. This appears to be a clever intelligent woman.

Is asked Who defrayed the expense of her last lying-in ? Ans. The collector. Has received some instruction, and repeats the Lord's Prayer very well ; has forgotten the Com- mandments and Catechism. The collector's return states this girl to be a bad cha- racter, but improving ; often in gaol and in the tread-mill, which she denies ; says that she never was in the tread-mill, and only once in gaol, for quarrelling with another woman, which statement is borne out by the collector's accounts, wherein only one charge under that head appears against her, neither is her name mentioned amongst the fiscal's list of prisoners.

Sir,

Demerara, 5th Jan. 1827.

HAVING this day had an inspection of the liberated negroes under the charge of the collector of the customs, we should feel much obliged by your affording us any information as to the general character of these people, which it may be in your power to communicate; more particularly, whether any of them have been committed to gaol for acts of misconduct; and if so, that you will be so good as to specify their names, the nature of the offences of which they had been guilty, the extent of the punishment awarded on the occasion, and whether any of them have been more than once in the hands of the police.

We should, in addition to the foregoing points, be happy to receive from you any further particulars concerning this class of persons, that you may consider illustrative of their state in this community.

We have, &c. &c.

His Honor Charles Herbert, esq.
First Fiscal, Demerara.

(B. 1.)

Gentlemen,

Fiscal's Office, Demerara, 21st Jan. 1827.

AGREEABLY to your request, I enclose you a list of slaves who have been seized by the Custom-house, and apprehended for petty offences.

Although the number is not particularly great, yet it is a very large proportion of that class of people. I consider that the mode in which they are disposed of is by no means calculated to benefit either themselves or the community at large. They are principally adult slaves, who have acquired those bad habits peculiar to the West India towns, and cannot be compared to the uncivilized Africans. To apprentice them out to families is a matter of much difficulty; and those few who have passed through an apprenticeship to tradesmen are by no means disposed to labour; for such is the facility of acquiring a livelihood, that in the course of one morning a sufficiency may be earned to supply their wants for the week: the consequence is, that the greater part of their time is passed in gambling, strolling about the country committing petty thefts, and idleness.

To the slave population the example is most pernicious, as it encourages the idea that freedom is a comparative state of torpor. Should sickness or disease overtake them, they cannot be suffered to die in the streets, but are placed in the public hospital at a heavy expense; and the institution which is intended as a relief to the distressed and deserving, is a receptacle for those who, by their vicious habits, have reduced themselves to a state of misery and want.

It would be a benefit conferred on the community at large, if you would pass a regulation which will remove these people to a country where subsistence and other comforts can be obtained by industry alone. You may assure yourselves of the correctness of my remarks, by a reference to the collector; and I believe every inhabitant of the colony will agree with me that these people, thus turned loose upon the community, and becoming free "per saltum," as it were, are an evil calculated to produce the most mischievous consequences.

I have, &c.

First Fiscal.The Honourable the Commissioners of Inquiry, George Town.

Remarks.

The amount of each person's contribution may be taken generally as a pretty accurate scale of the characters of the parties for industry and economy.

The woman Joan will be found to have contributed nothing for more than six months.

The deduction in the case of Sally is for a hat and pair of shoes for her son Matthew to go to church.

Martha

24 III.—SLAVE TRADE: PAPERS RELATING TO

Martha fell sick the 3d of September, and has paid nothing since.

Statira is in an advanced state of pregnancy, and only commenced contributing since the 7th November.

It is necessary to observe, that as the collector does not feel himself empowered to enforce this contribution, he is frequently compelled to admit excuses of a very trifling nature for non-compliance, and is therefore the more anxious that the Commissioners should favour him with their opinion upon this subject; and would suggest, that their advice to the people to continue their contributions would have a good effect, as he feels fully convinced, if the negroes once thought it was optional with themselves, they would never contribute another guilder.

The alternative the collector proposed to them originally was, that as long as they earned their own living with honesty and sobriety, conducted themselves well, and contributed something to the saving bank (the collector wished it to be a guilder per week), they would remain at perfect liberty; but if they became an expense to the Crown, or were disorderly in their conduct, or frequently in gaol (by order of the police), he would be compelled to apprentice them out. This had a considerable effect on their conduct at first; but latterly the example of one or two, who have contributed very little without having met any unpleasant consequences, has rendered the rest very backward in their contributions. If, therefore, it should be the opinion of the Commissioners that this system is a proper one, and that they conceive it comes within the scope of their Commission, it would much facilitate the collector's object in rendering them industrious and frugal, if the Commissioners would enforce that opinion by their sanction, declared to the people themselves, or in the shape of such a communication to him as he might read and explain to them.

Collector of Customs.

Demerara, Custom-house,
January 15th, 1827.

Sir,

Demerara, 18th January 1827.

THE Commissioners of Inquiry having had under consideration the remarks annexed to the return of contributions made to your saving bank by the liberated negroes, as transmitted with your letter of the 15th instant, I am directed by them to acquaint you that the plan appears to them to be in every respect an advantageous one, and likely, if it can be effectually established, to produce the results which you anticipate.

The Commissioners are also of opinion, that your enforcing the threat which you have held out, of apprenticing all those who show no disposition to continue their contributions regularly, would be the most effectual method of stimulating the others to a continued observance of this desirable object.
